

IMPROVING THE FORCE

A Long and Important Meeting of the Police Board.

A Question of Authority Between Recorder Landry and the Board.

Serious Charges Against Sergeant Vogt Ordered Fixed for Trial.

The police board met last night, with Commissioner Beauchamp in the chair, and Messrs. Drolla, Demourelle and Borne, Chief Gaster and Dr. Boyon in attendance.

Before trying any cases, Mr. Drolla moved to suspend the rules, and to act upon Recorder Landry's refusal to recognize court officers appointed by the chief of police.

"Gentlemen: I would respectfully request that you issue orders according to instructions from your honorable body to the patrolmen detailed in the various precincts.

"Judge Landry, who has seen fit to take exceptions to this order, as will be taken from the following messages received today from Recorder Landry, commanding the Third Precinct:

"Court Officers Bourdet, Cornu and Gels reported in the third recorder's court for duty this morning. Recorder Landry refused them recognition while in said uniform. I have placed them on their duty.

"I was called into court this morning by Judge Landry, and on appearance before him he asked by whose authority I appear in uniform. In answer, by the instructions of the superintendent of police. I was then sentenced by the judge for 48 hours for contempt of court.

"On receipt of this information I called on his honor, the mayor, and the matter was referred to the city attorney. I am afterwards informed that the case for contempt had been postponed until Friday next, when Sergeant McMahon will be called to the bar to appear before Judge Landry to answer for contempt."

Mr. Drolla stated that after being referred to Assistant City Attorney Lee, who submitted the following opinion:

"Upon request to advise you as to whether, under the laws governing the police force of this city, the question of the right to decide whether the court officers of this city are to be recognized by the board, or the police board, I beg to say that I am clearly of the opinion that the matter in question should be decided by the board, and that the recorders must accept their court officers in such uniform as the board decides upon."

Mr. Drolla then made the following motion, which prevailed:

"Whereas the superintendent of police has reported to this board that the Hon. J. J. Landry, recorder of the third recorder's court, refuses to allow patrolmen to appear in uniform as authorized by his court to appear therein in uniform, and that said judge has announced his determination of committing such officers and their commander to prison for contempt, be it

Resolved, That the superintendent of police be and he is hereby ordered to issue regulations of this board for the government of the force, including the rule that officers shall, when on duty, appear in uniform as authorized by other orders, and that the superintendent officers, to file uniformed officers.

Upon motion of Mr. Drolla the board ordered the above motion and the following extract from the minutes of the meeting to be transmitted to Recorder Landry:

OFFICERS IN UNIFORM.

Enforcing the Rules of the Police Board Regarding Court Officers.

Distasteful to Recorder Landry, of the Third Recorder's Court.

Who Orders Chief Gaster and Sergeant McCabe to Answer a Charge of Contempt.

The Case Fixed for Hearing Tomorrow Morning.

Yesterday the police officers detailed in Recorder Landry's court made their appearance in their police uniforms, in compliance with an order issued by Chief Gaster, on May 1.

The order was in conformity with the article in the Police Manual which requires the officers to wear their uniforms while on duty, and when not on duty in court they are to be in plain clothes.

The first objection raised to the officers wearing uniforms was by Recorder Landry, who stated that he had been notified by Recorder Landry, and he instructed his officers to take off their uniforms and appear in plain clothes.

The officers repaired to the seventh precinct station and reported the matter to Sergeant McCabe, the commanding officer. The latter notified Chief Gaster and then ordered the officer on duty.

This fact was reported to the recorder and he at once summoned Sergeant McCabe before him for contempt of court, and sentenced him to the jail for twenty-four hours.

The sergeant informed the recorder that he could not see how he had committed any contempt of court, as he was only obeying orders, but the recorder would not be satisfied until he had given him an additional twenty-four hours.

The motion to commit was made by D. J. Chevalley, the chief clerk, at the request of the recorder, for Sergeant McCabe and D. S. Gaster, chief of police, to show cause why they should not be held for contempt for interfering with the recorder in the discharge of his judicial functions.

The rule for contempt reads as follows: "Honorable Third Recorder's Court, City of New Orleans, State of La.: On motion of Dan J. Chevalley, chief clerk, and D. S. Gaster, chief of police, commanding the 7th precinct police station, have interfered and are interfering with the proper conduct of business of this court by purporting to order the officers detailed to this court as court officers, according to law, to disobey and refuse to obey the orders of this court, and has ordered the officers of this court on duty leaving the court without consent with or consent of this court. Thus subverting and setting at defiance the lawful authority of this court, and in violation of the dispatch of judicial and other public business. It is ordered that said Superintendent of Police, D. S. Gaster, and J. A. McCabe, sergeant commanding the 7th precinct, show cause on Friday, the 23rd day of August, at 10 a. m., why they should not be held for contempt of this court and dealt with according to law."

DAN J. CHEVALLEY, Chief Clerk 3d Recd. Court. J. A. MCCABE, Sgt. Commanding 7th Precinct. D. S. GASTER, Chief of Police. Recorder's Court.

The clerk was ordered by the recorder to put the motion on the records. On learning what had occurred Chief Gaster at once called on the mayor and related the circumstances to the latter, who appointed Assistant City Attorney Frank B. Lee to represent the chief and Sergeant McCabe on next Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

THE MADNESS OF CRIME. A Respectable Young Man with a Well-to-Do Father, a Good Trade and an Interesting Family Caught Robbing a Grocery Store.

Yesterday forenoon William Scully, a machinist employed at J. J. Langley's bakery, was arrested at his residence, No. 497 West street, by Detectives Dale and Flotto and locked up on a charge of burglary and grand larceny.

According to the report of the police officer, Scully had been in the store, which is a grocery store, and had taken a quantity of goods, including a quantity of flour, and had hidden them in a closet.

It seems that Mr. Briffot noticed that a portion of his stock disappeared every morning, but he did not take any action until he was informed by his clerks under a cloud of suspicion and dismissed them, but still the goods would disappear as mysteriously as before.

Some days ago Mr. Briffot left his store to go after his female clerk, and when he returned he found that during his short absence a new carving knife and fork had been stolen. He thereupon requested the police to keep a lookout for the thief, and on last Friday morning the officer, who was stationed in the store, discovered Scully in the store, and he placed him under arrest.

The prisoner gave a plausible excuse, and was charged with entering with intent to steal, and was released on $2000 bonds signed by his father.

The case was rather a strange one, and the above details were given to the police on Tuesday evening when he was recovered, at the residence of Scully's mother-in-law, Mrs. Redmond, on Melmore street, between St. Charles and St. Louis streets, where he had hidden the goods, and the latter two children from Scully's disfigure.

The prisoner's father has considerable means, and the prisoner himself is a good machinist and earned a good salary, and why he should turn to a life of crime is a mystery.

He was arraigned before Recorder Bringer on the present charge and was released on $2000 bonds signed by his father.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The Condition of the Vessels at Quarantine.

The regular weekly meeting of the board of health was held last evening, Dr. S. R. Olliphant presiding, and Dr. Wilkinson, Messrs. Standifer, Wellmann, King and Hill and Secretary Salomon and Attorney Zachario present.

Dr. Olliphant discussed at some length the report of Dr. George Heard, appointed some time since to accompany the steamer Stillwater to Belize, Dr. Heard stated that during his voyage he had noted that every sanitary precaution was taken and the vessel guarded, as far as possible, from contagion. There had been no sickness whatever during the time he was on the vessel.

The president read a letter from Dr. W. G. Austin, quarantining surgeon, in which he announced the death of the able bodied seaman Thomas Reeves, employed on the steamer Australian.

An Apparatus for Spreading Oil on Stormy Waters.

Trieste, Austria, Has Ceased to be a Free Port.

A Steamer Wrecked and Eighteen Persons Drowned at Senegal.

Trial Trip of the New Harrison Line Steamer Dictator.

An Ingenious Invention for Mariners. Among the instruments invented for the preservation of life at sea, says the Baltimore Sun, that will be experimented with before the board of supervising inspectors of steam vessels in Washington Sept. 23 will be an apparatus for spreading oil on stormy waters, and the invention of Mr. Everett D. Moore, of Baltimore, and has just been patented by the American Oil Projectile Company, of which Ex-Governor Groome is president and Colonel Washington Bowie secretary and treasurer.

From private experiments made through a series of days, it is found that the apparatus has long been wanted for discharging oil on the sea from the decks of storm-ridden ships, and from launches to stranded vessels. The projectile is a simple contrivance, and is operated by being fired from a cannon. An operating rope is attached to the side of the projectile, and by this means when it strikes the water it is handled from the point where it was fired from by means of a rope.

The projectile travels back the water goes into one end and forces the oil out of the other. The oil is spread over the surface and makes a smooth surface, and the water is kept from striking the vessel. The projectile is a simple contrivance, and is operated by being fired from a cannon. An operating rope is attached to the side of the projectile, and by this means when it strikes the water it is handled from the point where it was fired from by means of a rope.
